MORRAL GIVEN MODERN SCHOOL PLANT

The Morral school and the $30,000 addition just completed are shown in the accompanying photograph. The main part of the building, constructed in 1918, is shown at the left. The wing at the right is the new addition.

POSTOFFICE IN CRESTLINE SET

Crawford County Town To Get New Federal Building
Costing $75,000.

MAIL VOLUME INCREASES

Announcement of Award Made
Here Today by Congressman Fletcher.

A $75,000 postoffice project for Crestline was announced today by Congressman Brooks Fletcher.

He said final approval has just been given plans to construct a new federal building in Crestline by the fourth assistant postmaster general in charge of federal post-office projects.

The federal allotment of $75,000 is to cover both the cost of acquiring a site and constructing the building. The acquisition of the site is limited to 10 per cent of the cost of the project, the post office department reported.

Mr. Fletcher said the Crestline project has been under consideration for some time because the office has shown a steady increase in postal receipts for several years.

The office, now in rented quarters, handles not only local mail but is a railway mail terminal as well, and the new building to be situated in a central location, will set the dual requirements of the office more efficiently, he said.

As a result of the approval just given the project, the treasury and postoffice department building committee, through the procurement division of the treasury and the department of justice, will proceed with an investigation and acquisition of a suitable site to be obtained by the treasury department of postoffice buildings to meet the particular needs of Crestline.

No regular design will be used for the structure, the department officials said. A special design will be used to meet the present and future needs of the office with respect to both regular city and rail-way mail traffic.

It is expected that several months will be required before a site is obtained, the plans drawn for the building and a contract let for construction. In buildings of similar size, the construction work usually requires about nine months. This would place the probable opening date of the office late in 1938.

Under terms of the appropriation bill passed at the last session of congress, the department announced it would be possible to allot funds for one postoffice building in each congressional district. The department said priority was given in the selection of cities for postoffice buildings to communities having greatest postal receipts, where the postal revenues have shown an abnormal growth as compared with other cities and where the construction of a building would make better service possible.

Paul Hayes is postmaster at Crestline.

Summer Items Soon Will Do Fadeout On Markets

Some new fall foods have appeared in the last few days on the market, and other items show signs of coming for the winter. Among the items to arrive here are Ohio peaches which will be here for two weeks. Dealers said they are unusually good quality and will continue to be shipped in for some time.

The first Jersey sweet potatoes, favored by many persons as far better than the ordinary sweet potatoes, also arrived this week. Next week will be about the last here for homogrown Ohio peaches and will mean the end of the canning season, dealers reported. Peaches of other classes will continue to be shipped in for some time.

Roasting ears have only another month or three weeks to augment the table, dealers predicted. Other homogrown foods that have been coming in well lately are Ohio peaches and apples.

In the fruit field dealers are offering the usual supplies of Valencia oranges, lemons, California plums, Bartlett pears, seedless grapes, nectarines, honeydew melons, and a variety of apples. The first western strawberries and raspberries are expected to appear for the fall season shortly. Other fall vegetables scheduled to appear within the next few weeks are pumpkins and Hubbard squash, red and green peppers. The first Brussels sprouts are also appearing. Broccoli is more plentiful. Celery, lettuce, endive and tomatoes are also abundant these days.

SEWING CENTER PLANS FOR MARION UNDECIDED

Officials Confer on Proposal To Expand Operations; Sponsor Funds Needed.

No definite decision was reached last night at a conference of city, county and WPA officials at the office of county commissioners on the possibility of augmenting the WPA sewing center. This summer the project, which last winter employed as many as 100 women at a cost of $500 a month to the county, was reduced to about 10 women under sponsorship of the county.

It was decided last night that J. L. Kelly, new director of District No. 6 with headquarters in Columbus, Mrs. Gertrude Hendricks, district supervisor of women's projects, and Miss Jean O'Neill, supervisor here, will confer shortly to used for textiles and supplies only.

Present last night were Commissioners O. C. McCurdy, J. O. Weiss, Mayor Smith, Mr. Johnson, Miss O'Neill, Miss Hendricks, Mr. Kelly, Clifford Whisbrough, commissioners' clerk, City Service Safety Director John V. Ruth, and W. F. Schaub, district WPA financial director.

County Relief Director Frank G.

County recently stated that because of the virtual shut down of the sewing center the relief administration will be hampered in supplying clothing to relief clients this fall.

Commissioners made no statement at the meeting regarding whether they will be able to aid in reestablishing the project. Walter Johnson, acting city clerk who attended the meeting, said that although city finances are not particularly bright the city may be able to bear part of the cost.

It was estimated that it will cost the sponsors $1,000 a month to employ 75 women. The money would be used for materials and supplies only.

COMMUNICATIONS BOARD
INVESTIGATION ORDERED

President Discusses Problem With F. R. McNinch Whom He Selects To Conduct Inquiry.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 10.—President Roosevelt began work on his Constitution day speech today after closing a full investigation of the administration of the federal communications commission.

He also gave some preliminary thought to a proposal to utilize the federal election machinery in carrying out the recently authorized "census" and used John D. Biggers of Toledo, Ohio, to start the registration job. Biggers, who is president of the Babbitts-Ford Glass Co., will have a reply to the offer until he has discussed the matter of leave with his company.

One Job Turned Down
It was because of inability to obtain such leave that he recently turned down a membership on the communications commission.

The need for reorganizing this agency, torn with internal strife for months, was discussed by the President at luncheon with Frank E. McNinch, federal power commission chairman, who has been given temporary assignment on the communications commission to oversee it.

Free Hand Is Given
"The President has given me a free hand to find out what may need correction and apply the remedy," McNinch said before boarding a train for Washington.

"What's wrong with the FCC?" a reporter asked.

"That's what I've got to find out," he replied.

He said he would take over the new job Sept. 20 and return to the power commission after the reorganization was completed.

He added the "general impression" seemed to be that the commission's radio activity was in greater need of correction than its administration of the telegraph and telephone industries.

The President talked with Mr. McNinch after his conference with Biggers.

The latter told newspaper men he was a "working man" and while he wanted to be of public service there was the question of leave.

Nenoff, Nichols To Clash in Monday Mat Tussle

Steve Nenoff, the Bulgarian had a riot with Nichols being disqualified.

The aging Nenoff will not have an easy time of it against Nichols, an East Coast favorite. Nichols has won the majority of his bouts here and established himself as one of the cleanest and fastest men ever to appear on a local card.

A good 20-minute preliminary has been promised Marion fans, beginning at 8:30. The match will be held at the outside arena on Uncapher avenue unless inclement weather prevails. In this event, the matches will be held in the Marion Steam Show gymnasium.

RED BIRDS REGALL 10 FOR 1938 DUTY

Group Out on Option to Other Clubs Called by Columbus Team.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 10.—The league-leading Columbus Red Birds of the American Association announced today the recall for 1938 of 10 players who have been out on option to other clubs.

They were: Infielder Lou Bush, who has played second base all season for Memphis in the Southern Association; John H. (Red) Davis, Houston, Texas League shortstop; James Crill, first baseman, with Asheville in the Piedmont league.

Jackie Nichols, a favorite with local fans, won over Silent Rattan in a good businesslike bout last Monday. He went on to win after recovering from a second fall in which he was banged into unconsciousness. In his last appearance here against Indian Kirkland, he fought one of the speediest and cleanest bouts ever witnessed in the Marion Arena. However, charter followers of the break-off society can remember many previous visits when the German "barred nothing" is an effort to bury his opponent's shoulders deep into the mat.

Wiener Roast at Lincoln Park
Tonight: Play Will Be Supervised.

This week-end will inaugurate a new city playground schedule which will offer supervised play to school children.

Tonight at 5 there will be a wiener roast at the Lincoln park, open to all children. The only requirement is that each child furnish his own food. A campfire and program of stunts has been arranged.

A scavenger hunt Saturday, starting at 8 a.m., has been planned for the Steam Shovel playground. The boys and girls will hunt in groups.

A surprise program has been arranged for the McKinley playground Saturday morning.

The leaders gained experience in handling children throughout the summer playground program. Charles Caprino will be the recreational supervisor.

Mr. Caprino announced that families having picnics at the parks, particularly on Saturdays, may avail themselves of a play leader for the children by calling the Y. M. C. A. He asked that all former members of the girls' and boys' Gra-Y clubs take part in the Friday night and Saturday morning playground activities and cooperate with the leaders in reorganizing the club. Knot Hol Gang gives a feature of the summer program, have been discontinued until next summer, Mr. Caprino said.

TRYING COMEBACK

TO TEST PROPOSAL BEFORE UNIVERSITY

THALIA CONSIDERS IT FOR ENTRANCE TRIALS.

By United Press

NEW ORLEANS—Tulane university officials are considering using IQ tests as entrance requirements for new students.

Determination of the intelligence quotient—the IQ—through a specialized oral and written examination has been used experimental at Tulane by Dr. Martin Jan Hoer, dean-elect of the college of arts and sciences, for the past seven years. He said the intelligence test rating at college grades given later balanced "almost 100 per cent of the time."

While the plan remains to be adopted officially by the institution, freshmen are being tested with the method and their ratings will be compared later with grades given in college subjects. Through such tests officials hope to establish the merit of the plan.

"Of course, the intelligence test cannot give us the moral outlook of the student, nor his degree of courage and persistence," Dr. Jan Hoer said. "All it does is tell us whether he has the equipment is another thing."

"How the IQ would be given is still open to debate. Naturally we cannot expect the applicant to come to New Orleans and possibly be turned down because of a poor intelligence quotient. So we will have more or less to standardize our test and have the tests administered to the applicant by high school officials in whatever town the student lives."

Daily Pattern for Home Use

By ANNE ADAMS

PRETTY PAIR OF PRACTICAL APRONS COMES FROM ONE SIMPLE PATTERN

A smart twosome, geared to high speed in the kitchen--this practical pair of aprons, and as pretty that you'll find them decorative as well as useful! Cut on pinseam style, the built-up shoulder assures you a maximum of comfort, and protection for your frocks. Make Version "A" a "overall" in a colorful printed paisley or checked gingham and accent yoke, panel, and pockets with contrasting binding. Style "B" (shorter version) is all the gayer for its crisp ruffling, pointed pockets and pointed panel! Easy to make, too, is Pattern #562!

Pattern #562 is available in sizes small, medium, large and extra large. Small size apron A takes 2 1/4 yards 36-inch fabric and 3 1/4 yards for each apron. B, takes 2 1/4 yards 36-inch fabric and 1 yard ruffling. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

The Stars Say--

For Saturday, Sept. 11

STELLAR FORCES of a particularly stabilizing and steady influence are pressed for the day. There should be definite progress made in putting old masters, long stagnant or languished on film foundations for future soundness and enduring dependability. Good organization ability and sound judgment will call for the cooperation of cities or old institutions. In private life be prepared for a sudden and possibly devastating reverse. But on all sides the atmosphere of the mysterious, now inexplicable and unique.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year in which there will be strong and dependable influences at work for a summing up of the fortunes, with a rise in value of possessions, including retired or inactive savings or investments. Crystallization may break up to make way for definite and enduring progress. In private life there will be sudden emotional changes or romances of surprising and exhilarating force.

A child born on this day may be profound, ridiculous, responsible and practical and, at the same time, romantic, adventurous and whimsical. It may have strange emotional or psychic experiences or creative urges.

SCHOOLS LIST ENROLLMENTS

Approximately 9,000 Pupils in Classrooms in Parochial, City, County Buildings.

County, city and parochial school enrollment was approximately 9,000 today, officials reported.

The county figure, complete with the exception of the Meeker enrollment which had not been reported at noon, was 2,561.

City public school enrollment increased 43 today, to a total of 5,637 as compared to 5,600 on the third day of school a year ago. The total yesterday noon was 5,631. The parochial grade school enrollment remained at about 368.

City Supl. C. A. Hudson said he had received no reports of non-resident in the schools. Vacancies still remain in the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school, physical education department and the elementary school music department. Mr. Hudson said he had no report to make on either today. It is expected the Edison school vacancy will be filled early next week.

Enrolments stayed the same today at the Forest Lawn, Glenwood, Greenwood, George Washington, and Silver street schools. Increases were reported at eight schools, including Harding high where the additions this morning brought the total enrollment to 368. Other schools in which increases were reported are Mark, North Main, Oakland, Olney, Pearl, Central Junior, and Vernon Junior. Slight decreases were reported by the Edison school and the Oak street school.

The county enrollment, by schools follows: Waldo, 271; Martel, 145; Scott, 93; Prospect, 327; Pleasant, 301; Astoria, 180; Morral, 150; La Rue, 357; Green Camp, 189; Grand Prairie, 97; Claridon, 158; Caledonia, 244.

POSTOFFICE CLERKS TO ELECT OFFICERS

Picking of Convention City and Action on Resolutions To Conclude Party.

By The Associated Press
TOLEDO, O., Sept. 10.—Election of officers, selection of the next convention city, and action on numerous policy resolutions occupied the attention of delegates to the 20th biennial gathering of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks today.

Delegates and guests numbering more than 7,200 attended the banquet last night in the civic auditorium.

Speakers included Sen. Robert J. Buckley of Cleveland and William W. Howes first assistant postmaster general.

Buckley praised the Roosevelt administration as having been responsible for the extension of benefits to all workers. Passage of the 40-hour bill for postal employees was described as an outstanding achievement.

The clerks adopted a resolution favoring a 30-hour week without pay reductions.

RUSSIANS ACCUSED OF PIRACY TACTICS

By The Associated Press
MILAN, Italy, Sept. 10.—Premier Mussolini's newspaper accused Russia today of putting piracy into the Mediterranean.

Il Popolo D'Italia in an apparently inspired article, charged that a Hispano-Russian submarine fired a torpedo at the British destroyer Havock Sept. 1, off eastern Spain.

That was the incident which brought repeated pirate attacks on neutral Mediterranean shipping to a crisis. At the time there were broad hints in Britain that an Italian submarine was suspected as the Havock's attacker.

Il Popolo also blamed "Russia" for Spanish governmental aerial attacks on the Italian cruiser Bartolomeo and the German pocket battleship Deutschland in May. These incidents led up to Germany's shellings of Spanish Algeria.

ANOTHER GANGSTER KILLING UNCOVERED

By The Associated Press
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 10.—County authorities today faced their second gang killing within two months as the bullet-pierced body of a man—probably a Youngstown resident—was found lying in a field 10 feet from the Youngstown-East Liverpool highway 16 miles south of here.

The man had been killed by a bullet through the head. Five or six other bullets pierced his back. The body was taken to East Liverpool.

Fairly short of medium build and described as being apparently of foreign extraction, the man was dressed neatly in a suit bearing the name of a Youngstown store.

HELEN JACOBS BOWS TO POLISH NET ACE

By The Associated Press
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Helen Jacobs, champion from 1922 through 1925 and beaten final last year, today was eliminated from the women's national singles championships before a capacity crowd of 14,000 in the west side tennis club stadium. Her conqueror in a semi-final match was Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, hard-hitting Polish girl who won at 6-4, 6-4.

DENIES PAROLE REQUEST

By The Associated Press
LONDON, O., Sept. 10.—W. P. Amrine, former superintendent of the London prison farm, denied today that he had recommended the role of Robert Cornette, former convict who was killed in a gun battle with officers after a Springfield robbery last Friday.

HIS MISSION SEIZED

PAROLE AND POLICE FORCES MAY MERGE

Duffy Considers Uniting Two Into Department of Public Safety.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 10.—Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy indicated today he had under consideration the formation of a department of public safety to coordinate Ohio parole and police activities.

He advised that no detailed recommendations had been drawn and none would be until his investigation of parole board operations was completed, but he said: "There should be a decided centralization in the relation of state parole and police activities. The present system of handling parole, the state highway patrol and the criminal bureau of identification is too loosely drawn and is inefficient."

Gov. Martin L. Davey ordered the inquiry into parole and Duffy probably will include the new proposal in his report.

It would call for consolidation of the parole board, the parole supervising division, the state highway patrol, the state bureau of identification and possibly the state bureau of motor vehicles.

Duffy's associate, commenting on the proposed centralization, pointed out that the state's parole and law enforcement machinery is not under the sole jurisdiction of one department.

The highway department has charge of the highway patrol and the bureau of motor vehicles while the department of welfare has control over the parole board, the parole supervision divisions and the bureau of criminal identification.

Duffy's associate, commenting on the proposed centralization, pointed out that the state's parole and law enforcement machinery is not under the sole jurisdiction of one department.

Methodists Told Occidental Religion Has Awakened the Orient.

By The Associated Press
DAYTON, O., Sept. 10.—The annual conference of the Ohio Methodists Episcopal church settled to routine business today after hearing from one speaker that "Christianity has awakened the Orient—they demand a higher standard of living," and from another that "this is the solomon hour in world history."

Defending Japan's stand in the undeclared war in China, Dr. T. Bumbaugh, of Greenville, for 22 years a missionary to Japan, declared that Japan sought to expand.

"There is no racial problem, but an economical problem," he told the conference last night. "Japan's fellow white nations have been exploiting China for years. Japan wants China for Asiaites."

Dr. Walter Van Kirk of the Federal Council of Churches, speaking on the same program, said "the churches should cease advocating peace and educate for peace instead."

FALL SESSION SEEN HINGED TO CROPS

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The war department said today that scarcity of relief labor might delay the $21,000,000 flood control program embracing cities and towns able to pay for lands easements and rights of way along the Ohio river. Congress ordered that project workers be taken from relief rolls, but reports to the war department said that such workers were inadequate in some localities.

COED TELLS POLICE OF ATTACK ATTEMPT

By The Associated Press
PARIS, Sept. 10.—A worried national treasury today saw the franc dive to 28.35 to the dollar, the lowest point since it was freed June 30 to seek its "natural level."

Bankers attributed no small part of the money trouble to the dangerous state of affairs in the Mediterranean. Heavy government borrowings and increased bank-note circulation at home also were factors in the plunge.

On the face of these official house quotations, tourists now jamming Paris for the exposition will receive 1.49 francs more for each dollar than they got two days ago.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—A worried national treasury today saw the franc dive to 28.35 to the dollar, the lowest point since it was freed June 30 to seek its "natural level."

Bankers attributed no small part of the money trouble to the dangerous state of affairs in the Mediterranean. Heavy government borrowings and increased bank-note circulation at home also were factors in the plunge.

On the face of these official house quotations, tourists now jamming Paris for the exposition will receive 1.49 francs more for each dollar than they got two days ago.

The G. A. R. elected Dr. Overton H. Menet, 57, of Los Angeles as commander and concluded its 75th national meeting by choosing Des Moines, Ia., as the 1938 encampment.

Disease Found That Stimulates Criminal Habits

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Two Chicago physicians asserted today their research had disclosed the existence of a disease that stimulates criminal tendencies.

Tests, based upon microscopic and chemical analysis of spinal fluid, indicated an abnormality of cell count was in direct proportion to the extent of the criminal character of the persons tested, the doctors said.

The physicians, Dr. S. W. Brownstein, of the board of health, and Dr. M. Levy, of the Cook county jail staff, declared they believed pathological disturbances were prime factors in making "repeaters" of criminals.

Experiments were conducted on nine prisoners deemed "repeaters" by virtue of numerous arrests.

In normal persons, Dr. Brownstein explained, the spinal fluid is clear and has few or no cells from destroyed brain or spinal cord tissue. In diseased persons the cells increase.

Fluids extracted from the nine subjects revealed a cell count ranging from 26 to 127 per cubic centimeter. The normal count is three to eight cells, the doctors said.

Methodists Told Occidental Religion Has Awakened the Orient.

By The Associated Press
TOLEDO, O., Sept. 10.—The annual conference of the Ohio Methodists Episcopal church settled to routine business today after hearing from one speaker that "Christianity has awakened the Orient—they demand a higher standard of living," and from another that "this is the solomon hour in world history."

Defending Japan's stand in the undeclared war in China, Dr. T. Bumbaugh, of Greenville, for 22 years a missionary to Japan, declared that Japan sought to expand.

"There is no racial problem, but an economical problem," he told the conference last night. "Japan's fellow white nations have been exploiting China for years. Japan wants China for Asiaites."

Dr. Walter Van Kirk of the Federal Council of Churches, speaking on the same program, said "the churches should cease advocating peace and educate for peace instead."

FALL SESSION SEEN HINGED TO CROPS

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Farm leaders said today that the scarcity of relief labor might delay the $21,000,000 flood control program embracing cities and towns able to pay for lands easements and rights of way along the Ohio river.

Congress ordered that project workers be taken from relief rolls, but reports to the war department said that such workers were inadequate in some localities.

COED TELLS POLICE OF ATTACK ATTEMPT

By The Associated Press
PALE ALTO, Calif., Sept. 10.—A 17-year-old Stanford university coed told police today a heavy-set young man kidnapped her at pistol point and slashed her with a pair of scissors in an attempt to assault her on a lonely hillside.

Chief of Police Howard Tink withheld the girl's name, disclosing only that she was the attractive daughter of a prominent Palo Alto family. He said the girl had not been criminally attacked.

GIJON DEFENDERS REPORTED CRUSHED

By The Associated Press
ENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Border, Sept. 10.—Insurgents reported today that they had smashed government resistance in the high Europe mountain section, bulk of the Gijon defenses, after a 15-hour battle.

Insurgent commanders said they had confidential reports that a Russian general "Torcer" was sent from Valencia, temporary seat of the Spanish government, to organize the defenses of Gijon, last government-held port in the Spanish northwest.

Experts of the two powers completed this formula, which embraces also the use of dirigibles, airplanes and warcraft to safeguard merchant shipping, while the League of Nations council, in a brief session, formally placed on its agenda a Spanish government charge that Italy is to blame for piratical attacks on ships to the inlands.

League Meets First

The council session preceded the meeting of the nine nations at Lyon.

The preliminary plan of the British and French experts would divide the Mediterranean into territorial waters and high seas.

Along the great Mediterranean sea route, all craft found under water would be regarded automatically as piratical, to be open to immediate attack by warships of a nine-power international fleet.

British and France brought to the council a dramatic plan for automatic annihilation of "pirate" submarines in the Mediterranean. Complete agreement on all details had been announced by the British delegation shortly before the conference opened.

Experts of the two powers completed this formula, which embraces also the use of dirigibles, airplanes and warcraft to safeguard merchant shipping.

Submarines on the surface, flying their own national colors, would not be molested.

Once drawn up, the Nyon protocol will be submitted to Italy and Germany, either directly or through the London nonintervention committee of 27 states.

Completed by Monday

Completion of the plan is looked for by Monday.

The League council itself met privately under the chairmanship of the premier of government Spur. Dr. Juan Negrin, Negrin, however, announced he would abandon the chair when his nation's charges against Italy are heard.

The members decided to appoint a subcommittee to study the British plan for partitioning Palestine between the Jews and the Arabs then adjourned until Tuesday.

Simultaneously, a Chinese spokesman told the Associated Press that his nation will press for definite league action against Japan's "aggression."

Representatives of Britain,

France, Russia, Turkey, Yugoslavia, Egypt, Rumania and Bulgaria telephoned to Nyon.

Besides the 9th session of the League council, the committee on the reform of the league gathered to consider steps to strengthen the League covenant which was weakened with the collapse of international sanctions against Italy's Ethiopian conquest.

As a last minute read is planned forward to accommodate a new date, the date being the 1st of October, the range of vision ahead of him.

Blond's Letter to Franco Keeps Husband from Facing Firing Squad.

By The Associated Press
BURGOS, Spain, Sept. 10.—A young American wife's written plea of "please don't destroy my happiness" won a promise of life and freedom today for her imprisoned aviator husband.

Fascist Generalissimo Francisco Franco read her letter, studied the picture of herself which she enclosed, and decided to exchange Harold Dahl, 28, Champaign, Ill.

war pilot, for any Fascist aviator held captive by the Spanish government.

Mrs. Dahl wrote from her temporary residence in Cannes, France, asking life and freedom for her husband, whose Spanish government war plane was shot down behind Franco lines July 12. In Spain, studied Spanish who addressed the generalissimo as "Cid of Flanders," a term Franco dislikes.

What offset the mistake was Mrs. Dahl's picture—a photograph of a tall, beautiful, young American girl with blond hair and sparkling eyes.

"I am writing you to explain what he was and is a neutral," the letter said. "He joined (government) aviation forces only to get money because there are too many American pilots in the United States and freedom today for her imprisoned aviator husband."

Fascist Generalissimo Francisco Franco read her letter, studied the picture of herself which she enclosed, and decided to exchange Harold Dahl, 28, Champaign, Ill.

"We have been married only eight months, I am all alone. He needs only to get money for me."

"I know you are an intelligent man with a great heart and much courage. I promise you he will fight no more if you have the compassion to give him his freedom and send him back to me in France."

"I was an actress for many years and only now have I found my happiness. Please don't destroy it. Please answer my letter so I may know what to do and if I may hope."

Franco wasted no time with the problem, once he got the letter away from general staff officers who were reluctant to give up the photograph.

A mirror to be installed above the right front door of an automobile has been designed so it will not be used in parking close to a street curb.

She contends the liquidator of the bank in April of 1932 transferred the money in the account to aid in paying off an individual indebtedness of Mr. Queen. Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

LIL Questions Olga About Missing Bag of Jewels.

LILLIAN AND I sat tensely forward in our chairs as Queen Olga told us of the bag of priceless jewels, her faithful maid had sewn into her clothing before her royal mistress was kidnapped.

"You mean," I said breathlessly, "that the bag has disappeared?"

"Yes."

"Why did you not tell us of this before?" Lillian queried.

"I was so bewildered and ill, so grieved by my poor Marie's death that I did not think of doing anything," she replied with pathetic humility.

"They were gone, that was all I knew. It was simply one more blow of fate. It is only within the last few days that I have begun to bother my brain with conjectures concerning the disappearance of that bag."

"You would better let us help you," Lillian said briskly. "Please, tell us when you just saw that bag and knew that its contents were intact?"

Last Seen on Boat

"The last day of our imprisonment, not more than five hours before our rescuers boarded the boat," she said. "Poor Marie was so worried about her great responsibility that she used to undo her gown and make me look at the bag and feel its contents at least once every day. She was sure that the conspirators, who had taken the few jewels we had worn 'for bait,' so they would think they were all we had salvaged when we were kidnapped, would some time search our persons and discover the treasure she carried."

"It only I could hide them somewhere while we are on this awful boat," she used to wail every day, "but there was no place in our cramped quarters where we could have concealed even a pin."

"It was but a few minutes after she had showed me the bag that last day," Queen Olga went on, "that those fiends took Marie away from us and put her in another compartment. What they did to her, I can only guess, for when next I saw her she was dead. I knew that if Olga and I were to have a comfortable life instead of penury, I must find that bag. Perhaps you remember I asked to be alone with her for a few minutes."

We nodded assent, with vivid memories of her haunted, grief-stricken face as we saw it that night.

"I searched her poor clothing,

RECORD OF LAST DAY'S TESTIMONY IN SWEEPSTAKES TRIAL

It is virtually a complete record of testimony taken in the Palace theater sweepstakes trial closing session yesterday morning.

Defense Attorney J. Malcolm Smith called Kenneth Cheney to the witness stand when the trial opened for the morning session, posing preliminary questioning as to his position as doorman at the Palace. Strelitz asked:

"Were you on the door on the 15th of Aug. 15?" A—"I was."

"Were you a ticket taker?" A—"Yes."

"Did you receive instructions from Planck as to your duties?" A—"Yes."

"In the event someone on the outside of the theater asked permission to enter the theater to claim a prize, would you admit him?" Objections by Solicitor Galt to two questions pertaining to Cheney's instructions as to admitting persons to claim prizes were overruled, and Strelitz continued:

"When did you first start to work at the 'Palace'?" A—"Fourteen months ago."

"You have been on the door how long?" A—"One and a half months." Further questioning about sweepstakes tickets led to the question: "Was there a booth in the theater lobby?" A—"Yes."

"From where that booth was located could you see the picture?" A—"No."

Carhart questioned Cheney as to hours he worked and asked whether Planck had given him any instructions on Aug. 15 relative to sweepstakes, to which Cheney replied: "No."

Chief witness for the defense was the theater manager and defendant in this trial, George E. Planck, who was asked by Strelitz to tell what happened on Aug. 15, particularly in relation to sweepstakes night, and to describe the sweepstakes. Mr. Planck began as follows:

"On sweepstakes night, Aug. 15, the procedure was identical with previous weeks. At the conclusion of the first complete picture show the paraphernalia, board, drum, matinee attendance card file and four films were placed on the stage of the theater, and I then announced the prizes that were up for that night and called for someone from the audience, some small boy or girl to come up and draw the stubs from the drum. I also requested, as usual, any adult to come up and check the procedure as we went through with it."

In response to Strelitz's request for a statement as to how patrons registered and became eligible to participate in the sweepstakes, Mr. Planck said: "A person may become registered and secure a sweepstakes ticket bearing the name of a horse at any time. In fact, the registration was started some 10 days in advance of the first sweepstakes procedure. Persons were invited, through handbills and other means, to avail themselves of this registration at any time. They could register without charge."

Planck identified Defense Exhibit E as a sweepstakes ticket on which a person signs his name and address on a blank stub which is left with the theater for deposit in the drum.

"This registration is open to anyone at any time, at any show, on any day of the week," Planck continued. "The person may enter and leave the theater. It is not necessary to attend the show to secure one of these tickets. The person holds the stub and on any night sweepstakes races are run, winners are announced and the person holding the winning stub must present it three minutes after the results are announced and claim the money."

"On this particular night some small child selected a film, any one of four cartoon races which I had there in sealed containers. He answered in the affirmative to Strelitz's question of whether the stub of the ticket retained by the Palace was the one placed in the drum."

Strelitz asked: "On Aug. 15 this particular drum (pointing to Strelitz's Exhibit No. 7) contained these stubs?" A—"Yes."

"Where was it placed?" A—"On the stage, approximately 20 feet from the west side. It was spotlighted and in clear view."

Mr. Planck continued: "After the child selected the race film stub was sent to the booth. I proceeded with the drawing." He then detailed questions as to the film being sealed when they came into his possession and said the seal was not broken until the stub was taken to the projection booth. He said if adults went to the stage they were asked to select the film to be shown, otherwise it was selected by a child and sent to the booth to be placed in the projection machine and run at the close of the drawing. He explained that the drum was rotated in advance of selecting each ticket, sometimes more than once, and a ticket drawn from it by one of the adults."

BROADCAST IN HOUSE AND ON OUTSIDE

The ticket draw is banded to 10,000 and the name and give the series number over a microphone which is connected with our public speaker and a loud speaker in the lobby which is used when the crowds warrant it."

Further, he explained, the ticket was handed to Miss Waits in charge of the matinee attendance card, for the matinee attendance card, for the person whose name is on the card was in attendance or registered in the afternoon.

Going further into testimony of a witness Wednesday as to an East Liberty ticket being drawn, Mr. Planck said it was an East Liberty Pa. ticket and it was registered in the drum. "We have no reason to have tickets drawn for people living at a distance," he said, adding that one was destroyed 15 months ago because the stub was registered from East Liberty. He added, however, that there were several traveling salesmen who are in Marion regularly making tickets and were given them.

Continuing with the sweepstakes procedure:

"The 20 stubs drawn represent people who have registered in the sweepstakes and they are entered in the order drawn. At the conclusion of the drawing we announce if any of the tickets drawn represent people who attended the matinee. If they do, it is stated that their horse finished first, second, or third, and that person would automatically win that award. All others not represented by attended cards must claim the prize three minutes after the conclusion of the race. When we have big crowds, outside as well as in, we can give ample time, sometimes six minutes, for them to claim the award."

Questioning further regarding the film, Mr. Planck explained that it was a cartoon, "not unlike the animated cartoons distributed regularly," and that it was not always a horse race. "At the conclusion there is a narrator in the film who announces the results, verifying the numbers on the film. The tickets are then identified to the audience by the signature thereon."

Mr. Strelitz asked: "That announcement of who wins is made outside as well?" A—"Immediately, outside the theater and when crowds have been large there have been two or three boys shouting the winners."

Q—"Have people outside ever won?" A—"Yes. People on the outside have won it but I have not known about it until afterward. I have no way of knowing since the winner comes up to the stage and I don't know whether he has been on the inside or outside."

Strelitz asked if people attend the performance on Wednesday who are not registered. A—"Yes."

"Do they receive anything different from the persons registered?" A—"No."

"On Aug. 15, did you distribute any prizes?" A—"No."

"What happened?" A—"We had just completed the drawing—the officer testified (yesterday) he didn't believe the names had been announced but I believe all three were. I was a bit confused by the unexpectedness of it (referring to the raid by Chief Marks and his men). As I was making the usual announcements the chief served a paper on me as shown in court and proceeded, with a squad of men, to take Miss Waits and the equipment into custody."

Q—"And you, too?" A—"Yes."

Planck recounted how they and the cashier had all been taken across the street to the station and that after a few minutes he was told he might make arrangements for his bond and be free to come up to the office at the theater.

Q—"The money bag?" A—"Yes. It was the money bag sealed in your presence after the petty cash was taken out?" A—"No."

"In whose presence?" A—"My attorneys."

Q—"Do you know where the money in the bag came from?" A—"Admission receipts of persons attending the theater."

Q—"The money came from the manager's office?" A—"The original $30 returned to us was from the manager's office."

Q—"The money actually came from the ticket booth?" A—"Yes."

Q—"As manager of the theater you sponsor and promote sweepstakes night?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Can you give me the date it first started?" A—"May 7, 1936."

Q—"When did you first open at 11 a. m. to allow matinee patrons to sign their names to attendance tickets?" A—"To the best of my knowledge, late June or early July 1936."

Q—"What time does the theater ordinarily open?" A—"1 p. m."

Q—"11 a. m. on sweepstakes day?" A—"That is governed by the crowds." He explained that he had opened the theater early for other shows at 12:30 p. m.

Q—"Never as early as 11 a. m. The ticket booth is open at 11 a. m. on sweepstakes day?" A—"Yes."

Questioned regarding the program for the week of Aug. 18, Planck said he didn't recall exactly, but that the main feature ran through Tuesday. Wednesday was sweepstakes day and the balance of the program was Thursday and Friday.

Q—"On Aug. 18 you ran the picture for one day?" A—"Yes. That has not always been true."

MATINEE ATTENDANCE CARDS EXPLAINED

Questioning continued on the signing of matinee attendance cards and Planck said it was necessary for a patron to buy a ticket to sign an attendance card.

Q—"Everybody that signed one of these matinee attendance cards was required to purchase a ticket and surrender it to the ticket taker in the lobby?" A—"Yes. Although some attended at night without additional charge."

Q—"If a person purchased a ticket and went in and signed an attendance card at the matinee, would he be required to purchase another for the show in the evening?" A—"No."

Q—"He could go in at the same admission?" A—"Yes."

Q—"On Aug. 18 how many patrons did it?" A—"I don't recall."

Q—"On Aug. 18 what were the cash prizes to be awarded?" A—"$200, $100 and $5."

Q—"In what manner does the first cash prize accumulate?" A—"We add $20 for the first prize if the second prize is not claimed and $5 to the first prize if the third prize is not claimed." He went on to explain that if no one claimed any prize $5 was added to the prize the next week. If only the second prize was claimed, $25 was added, and so on.

Q—"The first prize was $200?" A—"It was the starting figure."

Q—"The previous week the prize had been claimed?" A—"Yes."

Q—"As to an usher?"

Q—"Asked to estimate the number of tickets stubs in the drum, Planck replied that he had no accurate count but that two or three weeks before the raid, at the request of a number of patrons he had estimated the number at between 12,000 and 14,000.

It was not on the outside of the theater. It was stored backstage. It wasn't used in the theater," Mr. Planck said in identifying the large silk banner announcing the sweepstakes. He mentioned that photographs which he had identified earlier did not show the banner.

Planck admitted all four films were on the stage at the start of the sweepstakes and that one had been selected to run to determine the winners. He continued to identify various tickets and other paraphernalia and corrected the solicitor on the term "registration slips" saying they were "matinee attendance cards."

The matinee attendance card means a ticket which is connected with our public speaker and a loud speaker in the lobby which is used when the crowds warrant it."

Q—"Are they left with an employee?" A—"Yes." He indicated that Miss Waits was in charge of the file on the night of Aug. 15 so she could notify him if the stub had been in attendance on the afternoon. He said Miss Waits was then signed to the stubs and were given them.

not permitted to sign an attendance card permitting them to participate in the sweepstakes.

Referring to the drum, Carhart said: "You stated it was your intention not to permit duplicate stubs to be placed there?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Has that ever happened?" A—"Yes, but when we discovered it they were destroyed. That is why a person is queried as to whether he has registered previously. There might have been duplicate slips in there. Many persons have signed initials, or two different names and sometimes it is difficult to detect."

Carhart brought forth Planck's Exhibit No. 28-28, and asked:

"Are these names on these two stubs not identical?" A—"The names are identical but on the back of one is a notation to take our Carlo Series I. In the early stages instead of issuing duplicate tickets we asked them to register a second time and the first registration became null and void and the party understood it. They failed to take out this one, going through 12,000. They may have been mixed."

Exhibits 28-28, 30-32, 33-34 were likewise identified as duplicates. "We have made our best efforts to clear them out," Planck said. On all but one back the name of our stub was marked with a notation and of the stub not marked Planck said that apparently the party registered and did not call attention to the fact that it was a duplicate registration.

Q—"If the first registration was drawn, the person would not win a prize?" A—"No."

Q—"Was this money bag sealed in your presence after the petty cash was taken out?" A—"No."

"In whose presence?" A—"My attorneys."

Q—"Do you know where the money in the bag came from?" A—"Admission receipts of persons attending the theater."

Q—"The money came from the manager's office?" A—"The original $30 returned to us was from the manager's office."

Q—"The money actually came from the ticket booth?" A—"Yes."

MATINEE ATTENDANCE CARDS EXPLAINED

Q—"Everybody that signed one of these matinee attendance cards was required to purchase a ticket and surrender it to the ticket taker in the lobby?" A—"Yes."

Q—"A person could purchase a ticket, go into the lobby, sign a matinee attendance card and leave the theater?" A—"Yes."

Q—"You know a good many did that?" A—"Not a good many, a few. We asked them to come back at night."

Q—"Why, then, did you move the opening hour of the ticket booth to 11 front?" A—"Because at the time we were having people standing in the theater, Planck asserted 99 per cent of the people saw the matinee show and that to take care of the crowds he operated three complete matinees within three minutes. Is that correct?" he asked. A—"Yes."

Q—"Miss Waits was in charge of the matinee attendance tables on the inside of the lobby?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Not out beyond the ticket booth?" A—"No."

Q—"Was it necessary to pass the door man and surrender the ticket before going in to register?" A—"No. If the signer desired to register he was passed by."

Q—"On Aug. 18 how many signed the attendance register?" A—"1 would say about a half dozen."

Q—"You allowed them to enter?" A—"It is not communicated to me, I done automatically."

Q—"They were not permitted to see the show?" A—"No."

Q—"You permitted every patron of the theater to participate in the sweepstakes?" A—"Everyone who desired to."

Defense counsel's objection to the sidewalk being crowded the day the first prize was $175 was sustained.

Q—"When did you first install a loudspeaker to be heard on the sidewalk?" A—"It couldn't be heard on the sidewalk. Sometimes I had two or three men shouting the numbers."

Q—"About 8:30 would you observe patrons outside the theater?" A—"Sometimes."

Q—"On Aug. 15?" A—"I don't recall."

Q—"You came out and went around to the stage door?" A—"I usually do."

Q—"You didn't notice anyone standing there?" A—"No."

Q—"On Aug. 18 was it necessary for a person who purchased a ticket to see a show?" A—"Yes."

Q—"You made every person do that?" A—"Yes."

There was an misunderstanding regarding the question and answer and Carhart began again:

Q—"Was it necessary on the night of Aug. 18 that these children be accompanied by an adult?" A—"No."

Q—"A person could purchase a ticket, go into the lobby, sign a matinee attendance card and leave the theater?" A—"Yes."

FRIDAY, - - - SEPTEMBER 10, 1937

Below 1,500,000.

THE AMOUNT of money spent by WPA during August should be the smallest in the history of that branch of work relief. There was a continuous decrease each week during the whole month, and in July WPA spent less money than it ever had spent in a single month before.

Total enrollment now stands at less than 1,500,000, another low mark. The drop has been caused by two things: greater opportunities for private employment and a policy of decreasing WPA rolls. Officials say that policy now has been suspended.

Though further decreases are predicted for September, winter will bring an upswing. No one knows how great it will be, though it is not expected to come anywhere close to the more than 3,000,000 total reached at the peak of WPA enrollment in February, 1936.

When the figure is known, it will represent an approximation of the size of the work relief responsibility which the national government has accepted. Approximately, what WPA Administrator Hopkins calls permanent unemployment is going to be somewhere between a lower limit of a little less than 3,500,000 and an upper limit to be established during the coming winter.

This Time?

HOPES that peace in Europe could be maintained in some fashion by the demonstrable unreasonableness of war is being withered by the hot onslaught of militaristic fever.

Elements of reasons are being routed by blood lust. What seemed only yesterday to be insurmountable barriers to a major war—lack of money and political stability—have been transmuted entirely into motives for destruction.

Autocracy, feeding on the distress of confused populations, does not yield to logic. Autocracy is power; power is the ability to destroy. Autocracy and destruction are identical.

Government by consent, caught off guard by the sudden accession of government by decree, is being challenged in every quarter. The autocrats today, as always in the past, must rule or ruin. That is the only method their plane of civilization enables them to grasp.

Europe has dealt with the possibility of complete destruction constantly ever since the World War. It is true that the Treaty of Versailles settled nothing, except the fact that the war would be suspended till combatants were ready to fight again.

For years undercover warfare has been going on. In Spain it has broken into the open, though on a small scale. Today it is threatening at last to become general. The cry to make the world safe for democracy is being heard again. Americans wince at the words and shudder at the implication of horror they contain.

The Big Chance.

MEN, they complain, show no originality in dress. That is, women complain; men are proud of their originality.

The big chance is the straw hat, which becomes as original after Labor day in some communities as a drum major's shako or a crimson shawl tied around the head. Yet, thousands of willful males annually defy the edict and go right on wearing straws just as though they didn't give a hoot.

It's simply that they enjoy showing their independence. It's about the only sprit of rugged individualism they dare to indulge. Even the conformists, who complacently bid their straw headpieces in the seashell at sunset on Labor day, are proud of the "backwards" of their non-conforming brothers. Hail to 'em. May they hold the fort till snow flies!

Trying the Line.

DECISION to spend no more money on home-stead projects, announced by Agriculture Secretary Wallace, comes at a time when 36 of 100 proposed projects are completed.

The projects were enormously expensive, in proportion to direct benefits to those who will use them. Under supervision of Rexford G. Tugwell, when he was a member of the agriculture department, they were useful examples of what happens when an over-zealous, undisciplined bureaucracy is turned loose on social experimentation with a lot of money to spend.

At the same time, however, the projects were useful examples of what can be done with community planning and model low cost housing to make a more abundant life for the "unhoused." But, at best, they were only examples. Even if almost unlimited money were available and were to be spent without waste, a resettlement project still would be little more than a demonstration, due to the large proportions of the problem. Thirty-six of them probably are as effective as 300. Meantime, the agriculture department will pursue the idea by making loans to farmers under the new farm tenancy act.

To use President Roosevelt's figure of speech, appropriate to the approaching football season, the department will call another signal. Instead of trying to make a touchdown all at once with a long pass, it will pick up a few yards through the center of the line.

On the Record

The Grouse Talks Over the Price Situation as Seen by Mr. Montgomery, Consumers' Aid.

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—"I see by the paper," said the Grouse, "that Mr. Donald E. Montgomery suggests we should stop caring for a while, and paying the rent, in order to bring down prices."

"And the joke of it is," he continued, "that this Mr. Montgomery is connected with the department of agriculture. It's his Consumers' Council."

"Mr. Montgomery," inquired the Grouse, "ought to get along more. He ought to stop from his office over to the office of Mr. Wallace. Then he ought to call on Senator Tydings and Representative Miller. Then he might have a few words with John L. Lewis. And he might look for whatshamsome—the fellow who runs the sugar lobby. And drop down to Memphis to talk with the cotton folks. Or he might just read the newspapers. Because this Mr. Montgomery obviously doesn't know the facts of life. You know what he says here?"

"Since you have the only copy of the paper, I do not."

"He says the present prices aren't justified by law of supply and demand," illustrated the Grouse. "Poor fellow, he doesn't know that he's been lynched Ages ago. He hasn't heard about the race riot that we had with the pigs two years ago. Darned near wiped 'em out."

"Mr. Montgomery's office is eye-wash anyhow," said the Grouse categorically. "If the law of supply and demand were functioning, there wouldn't be any necessity for Mr. Montgomery. But do you notice, whenever the government embarks on a policy that is absolutely bound to raise the cost of living, it appends somebody, somewhere, to represent the 'consumer.' So to make him think that his interests are being protected. Like the court appointing a young lawyer to serve without fee to defend a murderer who hasn't got a chance. And Mr. Montgomery's suggestion that we stop eating and living in houses, that we go on strike—all right except that the winter's coming on. The blackberry is frozen on the vine. The trailer is chilly."

"You went rather far afield," ventured the Grouse, "with the slogan: 'Repeal the Law of Demy and Commodity!'"

Present World Strife Debunks Old Theory That Munitions Makers Cause All the Wars.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—For a long time now the cry has been echoed by various groups in this country, "Take the profit out of war." Likewise it has been urged that all wars are merely due to the machinations of the munitions makers.

Today, as the world faces the possibility of another conflict in Europe and already witnesses a desperate war between two major powers in the far east, it might well be asked, who are the munitions makers responsible for all this?

Surely, the munitions makers didn't have anything to do with the life and death struggle in Spain, which is the root of the trouble in Europe. Certainly, the fundamental cleavage between Fascism and Communism or between democracies and dictatorships is not due to the munitions makers of the United States.

Also it can hardly be argued that the Chinese and Japanese have come to grips just to satisfy the beneficiaries of this war trade. It would be difficult to segregate the American citizen who have been directly and indirectly profiting by these military preparations. All the lumbermen who furnished the fine wood for the propellers in the airplanes, all the manufacturing companies which make engines and parts, all the processors who take products from the soil to be used in making implements of war are indirectly involved and not just the companies that happen to make the finished product in the form of guns or ships. As a matter of fact, the Japanese make their own munitions, though they do get necessary materials for many essential products from us.

It would be interesting to find today a single person inside or outside of official life who could prove that the present war situation is attributable to munitions makers or their alleged effort to make profits out of war. Like many a bit of disengagement, the charge that munitions makers produce war has been swallowed by lots of people, but today they do not seem to be able to point out the culprits, who, for the sake of material profit, have put a war scare on throughout the world.

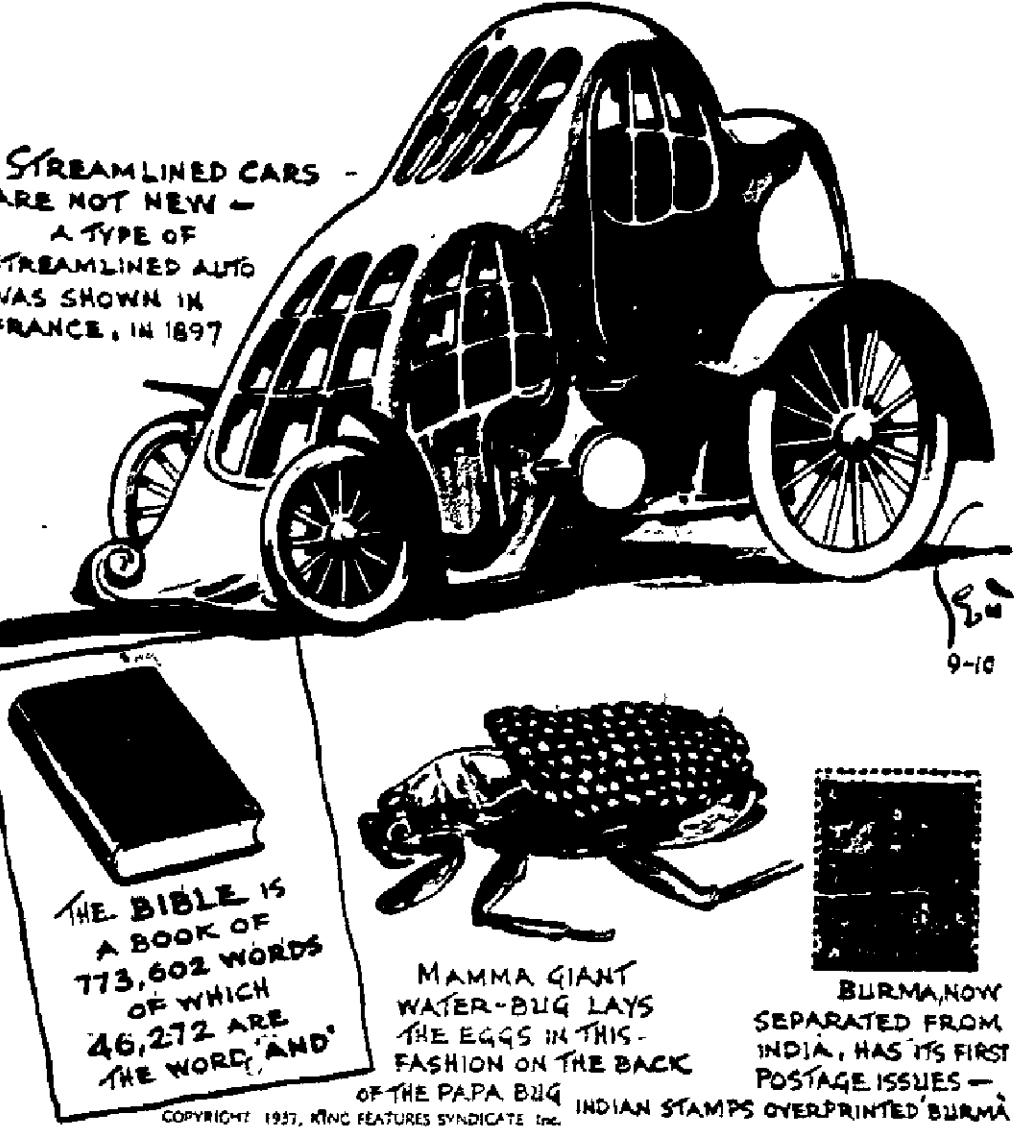

The stock market has been dropping. American business has been a bit nervous and the threat of war in Europe, as well as actual war in the far east, have given the whole world a state of nerves, not unlike 1914. But of one thing the public can be assured—legislation will not stop war. For, if it could, the first thing on the calendar might be a resolution to abolish dictatorships in Europe and autocracies in the far east, and clearly our recent passion for isolation and nationalism prevents us even from uttering such a resolution, let alone passing one. If indeed such a fanciful power over other nations of the world were available to us.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Sept. 10, 1927. Miss Lois Eleanor Delander, 16, of Joliet, Ill., was picked as "Miss America" of 1927 in the Atlantic City beauty pageant.

Raymond Cookton and Edward

R. S. Rapp of Marion returned home after working during the summer on the U. S. S. Leviathan.

Two youthful bandits slugged

Mrs. Paul Gilbert of Windsor street in the midst of a crowd near the Leontine block on West Center street and escaped with her pocketbook containing more than $100.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Helmich of near Wadsworth. Miss Dorothy H. Pennell and Leila Ervin, both of Marion, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pennell of Tyler street, by Rev. Irvin Kauffman, pastor of Greenwood Evangelical church.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Sept. 10, 1917.

The national food administration announced provisions under which licenses would be issued to grain elevators. It was predicted that as a result of the regulations the price of flour would soon drop.

The 186th Infantry, totaling 3,005 men and 90 officers from Ohio, arrived at Camp Mills, Mineola, L. I., from Camp Perry under the command of Col. Benson W. Hough.

The regiment included D. Co. of Marion, Hank Gandy, Ohio boy who had quit the Boston baseball club to enlist, was with the 186th and one of the first things he did at camp was to challenge the 186th Infantry of New York to a ball game.

The West Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, in session at Ada, announced return of Dr. Jesse Swank as pastor of Epworth M. E. church, Rev. E. A. Strothers as pastor of Westerville and Rev. J. W. Donnan as pastor of Ashbury M. E. church.

Birger One Next Year

There will be a larger unbalance of payments in 1938. The department of commerce reports there is already this year a surplus of more than $140,000,000 in imports of actual goods over exports.

The amount of tourist expenditures abroad, shipping services, interest and dividends and tourist expenditures enter into it.

But the fact remains that in 1938, for the first time in decades,

the United States had an "adverse" balance of trade.

It is an "adverse" or "unfavorable" balance of trade. Instead they call it an "import surplus." The department of commerce insists it should be simply an "unbalance of payments," since only part of it represents a trade in goods. Shipping services, interest and dividends and tourist expenditures bought in advance, can underwrite foreign goods later.

It is noteworthy, in support of this, that the principal increase in imports to this country is in raw material, such as rubber, part of which will be later exported as finished goods.

The department of commerce insists also that the trade pacts are helping break down trade barriers, but that is something likely to be a subject of political war for years to come.

On the new basis being used by in the executive branch of the United States government," there were 841,664 employees as of June

30, 1937, drawing $17,300,469 a month.

Total civil personnel never has reached a million. The peak was reached Nov. 18, 1918, when there were 817,690 names on the payroll.

It fell to its post-war low as of Dec. 21, 1921, with only 510,

233 names on the payroll. Since then, it has fluctuated, though with a general tendency toward increase.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs.

CHANGE IN CONSTITUTION P TO PEOPLE — LANDON

See Cites Supreme Court Battle as Example of Nation's Theory of Government.

By The Associated Press
GARFIELD SPRINGS, Colo.
— Al M. Landon, declaring that democracy is to do away with judiciary by carpetbagging, said here last night: "If that is the will of the people, if that is the will of the Republic, nominate for next year in a speech ready to deliver before the national convention of the P.R.C. the legal fraternity, said or the Roosevelt's court reform is a matter so fundamental that there can be a common ground where all can meet."

"Democratization" Cited
"Our America has 'just witnessed a practical demonstration of the effectiveness' of this nation's theory of government," the Constitution is a great charter of liberty under law," he said. "It has served us during a century and a half of progress without parallel in the rest of the world. Nevertheless, it is not unchangeable. If any government where men and women are free, they must and the progress of between congress and the supreme court has a wholesome retarding effect." It fails, he said, to legislation carrying out the final decision of the people.

Landon urged "more of the old optimism."

"We come of a race that was willing to be an America, that was proud and boastful of itself and of its country," he said. "Now we are prone to devalue ourselves and our country."
